I think the different sections laid out in this article would translate well into a multi-site website instead of one long page. There is certainly plenty of content here and on related links if more details are needed, and of course plenty of pictures and videos found elsewhere online.

- Home/Introduction – Really could mirror the introduction to the Wikipedia page, just a brief overview of all the topics
- History – (Antiquity and Medieval)
- History – (Renaissance through modern)
- Construction
- Repertoire
- Sources
